WINTER 2014

WINTER IN PARIS

We wish you all the best for this new year 2014 !!!

LA GRANDE EPICERIE DE PARIS

La Grande Epicerie has had a complete makeover after almost two years of renovation work. The foodie institution of Le Bon Marché, the oldest and chicest department store in Paris, renews itself by adopting the codes of luxury. Started in early 2012 by the wine cellar in the basement, which offers more than 20,000 bottles, including Petrus, Yquem and a fine selection of champagnes, the project is now finished.

On the ground floor, an authentic "marketplace" is reconstituted with multicolored and fresh fruit and vegetables. Pastry shop, bakery, fish and seafood counter, butcher's and cheese shop are located on the same level for the sheer pleasure to the palate. The first floor houses a new restaurant, The Table of the Grande Epicerie. At the heart of the store, a huge central void was built in the tradition of the nineteenth century, around a dome and its canopy, made by DYArchitectes agency, in coordination with internal teams.

A leading light in the world of Parisian gastronomy, it attracts people from all over the world in search of exceptional quality and taste.
